Campton, N. H., March 1, 1879.

REPORT OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—

Your attention and signatures are solicited to three petitions drawn up by a Committee of the N. H. Teachers' Association to be presented to the Executive and Legislature next June.

1st. For "a more equitable distribution of the Literary Fund."

2nd. For "the assignment of one-fifth of the Literary Fund to the purchase of School apparatus and books of reference."

3rd. For "well conducted Teachers' Institutes by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction."

Normal methods of teaching with the use of ocular helps have been greatly perfected within a few years and are held in high esteem by educators in all countries. "It is not by long and fatiguing effort, but in earnest, careful attention at the moment that deep impressions are made upon the mind." Hence time may be saved and knowledge and power gained by the skillful use of well devised illustrations, maps, charts, and apparatus which forcibly impress the mind through the eye, and train to habits of close observation. The State Superintendent in his recommendations, for 1876, says: "The benefit that will accrue to schools from systematizing the work in reading and writing, and by saving the time wasted upon the study of technical and abstract grammar, and unimportant parts of arithmetic, and details of foreign geography, and in pursuing the study of history in too large text books, appear in the opportunity afforded to take up the elements of other useful branches of knowledge."

It is desirable that a part of the School money next year should be applied to purchase the new State map for each school, according to the act of last June. A book of reference for N. H. history, industries, etc., would be a very useful addition to the maps. It would be well for each district to make immediate provision for the preservation of such school property in secure closets or cases under the charge of suitable librarians.

Some of our schools this year reverted to the old custom of having a winter term, presumably for the benefit of the older boys. Your committee judges that for such schools the standard of examination of teachers should be advanced for special attention to those operations of practical arithmetic that are based upon percentage. The results in some cases were unpleasant.

The real need is for a higher standard of primary teaching. The notion is too general that almost any one can teach children. The large boys attend winter terms only irregularly. They have got beyond the natural school time of their class. First class training during the first ten years of school life would save them time, and gain for them real educational power.

The too general vice of many of our teachers is that they are continually weakening their pupils with helps and props and stays, instead of training them to think and work and know for the mselves. SELF RELIANCE is the only real strength of character.

Whole number of different scholars enrolled as attending school not less than two weeks, 316; 167 boys, 149 girls; number under 6 years of age, 21; over 15 years, 51. Number of scholars in town between the age of 5 and 15 years, according to inventory of the Selectmen, — Number reported as not attending summer terms, 15; winter terms, 19.
